The Church celebrated the World Day of Prayer for Peace on New Year's Day and, stemming from these prayers, commemorates Peace Sunday this weekend. Traditionally, the Holy Father brings a message of peace for the world at the coming of the New Year and this year Pope Benedict XVI brought home the message that true education in peace and justice begins in the family, "since parents are the first educators. The family is the primary cell of society; "it is in the family that children learn the human and Christian values which enable them to have a constructive and peaceful coexistence. It is in the family that they learn solidarity between the generations, respect for rules, forgiveness and how to welcome others." The family is the first school in which we are trained in justice and peace. We are living in a world where families, and life itself, are constantly threatened and not infrequently fragmented. Working conditions which are often incompatible with family responsibilities, worries about the future, the frenetic pace of life, the need to move frequently to ensure an adequate livelihood, to say nothing of mere survival – all this makes it hard to ensure that children receive one of the most precious of treasures: the presence of their parents. This presence makes it possible to share more deeply in the journey of life and thus to pass on experiences and convictions gained with the passing of the years, experiences and convictions which can only be communicated by spending time together. I would urge parents not to grow disheartened! May they encourage children by the example of their lives to put their hope before all else in God, the one source of authentic justice and peace."

Thank you for your support in providing Mass intentions. They are said strictly in the order they are received so, if your intention is not listed, it will appear as soon as possible according to the date given.

Please join us for Exposition of the Blessed Sacrament after Mass on Monday with Rosary and Benediction at noon

With prayers of peace and blessing from the Holy Father upon all our families
