

St Simon † St Jude

Roman Catholic Church Streatham Hill

Sunday 10th July 2016

15th Sunday Ordinary Time [Year C]

Remembering especially "Sea Sunday"

WELCOME TO OUR SUNDAY MASS

Please join in with the words below in bold and follow the prayers of the Mass in the laminated guide or hymn book.

Entrance Antiphon:

As for me, in justice I shall behold your face;
I shall be filled with the vision of your glory.

A reading from the book of Deuteronomy [30:10-14]
The Word is very near to you for your observance.

Responsorial Psalm [18]

The precepts of the Lord gladden the heart.

A reading from the letter of St. Paul to the Colossians [1:15-20]
All things were created through Christ and for him.

Gospel Acclamation:

Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia
Your words are spirit, Lord, and they are life:
you have the message of eternal life.
Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia, Alleluia

A reading from the holy Gospel according to Luke [10:25-37]
Who is my neighbour?

At the preparation of the altar and gifts:

Our sacrificial giving is part of our participation at Mass and a sharing of the blessings God gives us. We take both our 1st and 2nd collections one after the other to give time for sharing God's gifts and space for reflection and prayer after Holy Communion. Our second collection today is for the Apostleship of the Sea, (please use an envelope from the bench) and next weekend it will be for our Parish Refurbishment Programme. Thank you.

Communion antiphon:

Whoever eats my flesh and drinks my blood remains in me and I in him, says the Lord.

Reflection: As Jesus continues his journey to Jerusalem, He met a scholar of the law who wants to test him. In Luke's Gospel, the lawyer asks what we must do to inherit eternal life. Here Jesus asks the expert to answer this question, "What is written in the law?" The man is caught and responds with Deuteronomy 6:5. Love of God and love of neighbour are what is required for eternal life. Jesus' response is simple, "Do this and you will live." Then, the lawyer tries another question: Who is my neighbour whom I must love like myself? In the Society of Jesus' time, with its distinctions between Jews and Gentiles, men and women, clean and unclean, this was a trick question. Jesus responds with one of the most beautiful of all the parables, the Good Samaritan. The traveller in this parable is identified only as "a certain man." Luke uses this phrase in many of his parables so that the audience, Jew or Gentile, could identify with the man. After the attack, the man is left for dead, naked and bleeding on the side of the road. A priest comes along, but rather than helping, as one might expect, he moves to the other side of the road. Another religious person comes along, a Levite who assists in the Temple. His reaction is the same as the priest's. Both of them choose to not even find out if the man is alive. A third person comes along. The listeners would probably expect him to be an Israelite. This would make the parable a criticism of the religious leadership. Instead he is a Samaritan, an Israelite's most hated neighbour. The Samaritan not only goes over to the injured man but cleans his wounds, puts him on his own animal, takes him to an inn to recover, and promises to pay all his expenses. The hated enemy is the compassionate neighbour in this parable. Jesus has demolished all boundary expectations. It is not social definitions such as class, religion, gender, or ethnicity that determines who is our neighbour. A neighbour is a person who acts with compassion toward another. The point becomes not who deserves to be loved as I love myself, but that I become a person who treats everyone with compassion. When Jesus asks the lawyer who was the neighbour in the story, the lawyer can't bring himself to say it was the Samaritan. All he says is that it was "the one who treated him with mercy." Jesus' response was similar to that of the first discussion: "Go and do likewise." (Loyola press)
